Dear Sir:

In looking through some Governmental regulations on the wearing of medals, I noted mention of the Bailey medal.

Our Museum here has on display all the medals issued by the Government which, when we have been unable to get from recipients, the Government has furnished us. This display of Orders and Decorations of our own and other countries, is one of our Society's chief exhibits, and I am writing to ask if you could inform us as to the best way of obtaining a specimen of the Bailey medal as we are very anxious to include a copy of this in our Collections.

Appreciating anything you may be able to do, and apologizing for troubling you in the matter, I am,

Very truly yours,

Curator

Dear Sir:

The Bailey gold medal arrived yesterday and we are very glad to have a specimen of this for our collection which is continually growing and gaining in importance.

After writing my last letter to you, it occurred to me that you might possibly be holding one of these medals which has been engraved, but for some reason was never sent to the man to whom it was awarded. If this should be the case, we should be very glad if we might have it in place of the blank medal just received, as the engraving would add to its interest on display in our Museum.

Very truly yours,

Curator

Dear Sir:-

In reply to your letter of March 31st would say that none of the medals in my possession at the present time are engraved, nor have they ever been, as I sent them to the Navy Department to take care of the engraving.

I regret very much that this is the case.

We have heard of your collection, of it's great importance and about how well known it is throughout the world.

Yours very truly,

Theodore Bailey
